WANT TO KNOW WHAT'S DOING

Instead of Appealing to the Homeseekers, the Board of Trade Is Now Busy Answering Their Questions, Directly or Indirectly.

The people of this big country have finally come to an appreciation of the fact that there is something in the Salt River valley they ought to know about, and that is the first step toward filling its inviting acres with happy settlers and home builders. The daily mail brings to the desk of Harry Welch, secretary of the board of trade, a sufficient number of inquiries to keep him busy all the time, if he could give personal attention to everything and write letters to all, but he cannot and the general inquirer is disposed of with literature and form letters. Those who ask for specific information are given personal letters wherever it is possible.

From a single day's mail the following are taken as illustrating the character of the inquiries. One is addressed to the governor and referred to Mr. Welch. It comes from a magazine writer who is collecting information for an article of value to all irrigation sections, and is a request for a lot of statistics concerning the valley, its resources and its population. It will be furnished.

Another is a letter direct to Mr. Welch from a man who is preparing an article for a bond and realty paper in an eastern city. He desires similar information, together with pictures for the illustration of his article. One could write a book in response to his queries and not stray far from his subject.

The third request comes from the Pacific Information league of San Francisco, and is of a similar nature, only that the league offers to spread widely all the facts it can secure, and at no expense to the board. It has a broadminded purpose, and an extract from the letter shows that it is just the sort of an organization the board wants to deal with. The letter says: "Please put us on your regular mailing list for all bulletins and all other matter germane to our purpose. We want to cover all the western states and British Columbia. There will be no charge of any kind for filing the information and sending homeseekers your way, or putting you in communication with them. We hold no brief for California as against any other part of the west. The map of human opportunity is being changed on this coast, and we hope to be able to induce a great number of desirable citizens to locate in the great west."
